ABOUT US

TECHNO COOL ASSOCIATES is a leading engineering company in Bangladesh giving the best and comprehensive commercial HVAC (Heating, Ventilation and Air-Condition) solutions since 2003.

We expertise in design & drawing, consultancy, supply & installation support and after sales & maintenance in the field of HVAC. Products of supreme quality are imported from world renowned manufacturers to satisfy the requirement of project owners and technical personnel.

The art of air

Promising to provide you with the best hvac solutions.

When we organized the company in 2003, we could not envision in our most hopeful moments the growth in size and capability that is recorded here. The foundation to any department or structure should be based on relationship building. Relationship building should start within the various structures which with then automatically be carried forward to the clients. Thus building a positive customer relationship, which I personally think is vital in any organization. I strongly believe that customer relationship management should be at the top on the list of priorities in each division. We are blessed with capable & caring professionals who go the extra mile to fulfill our corporate mission and meet their high personal standards.

It is our goal to continue to provide a level of service that is recognized nationwide for its superiority and known locally for our commitment to community. Because, we know Quality matters.
